Item 4 - Advisory Business

Filbrandt Investment Advisers, Incorporated (“FIA”) is an investment adviser registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”). FIA has been offering advisory services since September 1994. FIA is owned by Michael J. and Patricia J. Filbrandt.

The advisory services of FIA are described in detail below.

Comprehensive Financial and Portfolio Analysis Services

FIA provides Comprehensive Advisory Services to clients who have a need for financial counsel involving more than an analysis of a particular investment or financial situation. The scope of an FIA comprehensive plan is as broad and detailed as desired by the client. This service usually includes an analysis of a client’s existing assets, investments, insurance, cash flow, retirement and estate planning objectives. FIA provides a written analysis and at least one client meeting to discuss the analysis and its implementation.

Clients decide which investment recommendations to accept and implement. Clients are also free to select any brokerage, insurance or other product provider to purchase (or sell) the investments, insurance, or other products discussed with FIA. FIA does not guarantee results, and losses can occur from receiving Comprehensive Advisory Services.

Changes in client's financial condition, personal circumstances, goals, or general economic conditions may trigger changes to the advice provided by FIA. All Comprehensive Advisory Services advice is based on information provided by the client. It is the client's responsibility to be certain that FIA has current and accurate information.

Project Advisory Services

For clients wishing to receive advice about a specific financial situation, FIA will provide such services in the scope requested by the client. Project Services can be provided to new clients needing advice on a particular subject or to established clients wishing to expand upon the subjects covered by the Comprehensive or Ongoing Services provided by FIA. Project Advisory Services can include the following topics:

Financial Problem Solving	Estate Planning
Investment Planning	Risk Analysis
Portfolio Analysis	Employee Benefit Reviews
Cash Flow Planning	Charitable Giving Strategies
Retirement Planning	Education Planning

To the extent material changes have occurred to a client’s circumstances or goals, or to the extent a client requests a new project, the client may be asked to sign a new Services Agreement. The client may initiate contact with the client’s Representative as often as needed and the Representative will schedule conferences as needed, usually no less than annually.

All Project Advisory Services are based on information provided by the client. It is the client’s responsibility to be certain FIA has current and accurate information and it is the client’s responsibility to inform the Representative of material changes affecting the investments and planning strategies implemented so the Representative has them for future reference.

Comprehensive Ongoing Financial and Portfolio Planning Services

FIA will provide personalized comprehensive ongoing planning and monitoring for client's financial situation. These services will include retirement income planning current and annual updating, estate planning including periodic reviews of beneficiaries, trusts, asset titles and suggest estate transfer strategies. FIA will provide analysis, recordkeeping and investment recommendations on the portfolio. FIA will provide tax planning suggestions across all spectrums of planning.

Clients decide which investment recommendations to accept and implement. Clients are also free to select any brokerage, insurance or other product provider to purchase (or sell) the investments, insurance, or other products discussed with FIA. FIA does not guarantee results, and losses can occur from receiving Comprehensive Ongoing Financial and Portfolio Planning Services.

Changes in client's financial condition, personal circumstances, goals, or general economic conditions may trigger changes to the advice provided by FIA. All Comprehensive Advisory Services advice is based on information provided by the client. It is the client's responsibility to be certain that FIA has current and accurate information.

Asset Management Services

FIA also provides discretionary asset management services. This means that FIA Representatives will have authority to purchase and sell securities of their choice in the amounts and at the times they believe it is suitable for a client's account to do so. Asset management services begin with FIA analyzing information provided by the client pertaining to the client's financial situation and needs. FIA then selects investments having objectives consistent with the objectives of the client and with the risk tolerances identified by the client. Most often FIA recommends investments in mutual funds.

The initial investment and asset allocation recommendations are based on the financial information gathered from each client including net worth, risk tolerance, financial goals and objectives, investment restrictions requested by the client and overall financial conditions. Based on this information, the client is provided with initial investment recommendations designed to provide an appropriate asset mix consistent with the client's objectives. The client's portfolio and its performance are monitored by the client's FIA Representative in light of the client's stated goals and objectives. The frequency of these reviews and transactions made for a client's account are determined by the FIA Representative. Representatives typically meet with the client on an as-needed or as-requested basis to discuss the portfolio and other aspects of the service. Clients are free to contact their Representative at any time if they have questions about their accounts.

As a general rule, FIA believes that investing is best suited to those who believe in a long-term buy-and-hold policy. Therefore, clients should not expect frequent investment changes in the portfolio. However, as a result of monitoring the account, investment purchases and sales will be made where FIA has discretion. For non-discretionary relationships, FIA will contact a client before re-allocating an account..

Investments are not held by FIA. Instead, all investments managed by FIA are usually held at the brokerage firm through which transactions are placed.

FIA does not assure or guarantee the results of its Asset Management Services; thus, losses can occur following FIA's advice pertaining to any investment or investment approach, including using conservative investment strategies.

Miscellaneous

Limitations of Financial Planning and Non-Investment Consulting/Implementation Services. As indicated above, to the extent requested by the client, FIA may provide financial planning and related consulting services regarding non-investment related matters, such as estate planning, tax planning, insurance, etc. FIA does not serve as a law firm or accounting firm, and no portion of its services should be construed as legal or accounting services. Accordingly, FIA does not prepare estate planning documents or tax returns. To the extent requested by a client, FIA may recommend the services of other professionals for certain non-investment implementation purposes (i.e. attorneys, accountants, insurance agents, etc.), including representatives of FIA in their separate individual capacities as licensed insurance agents. The client is under no obligation to engage the services of any such recommended professional. The client retains absolute discretion over all such implementation decisions and is free to accept or reject any recommendation from FIA and/or its representatives. Please Note: If the client engages any recommended unaffiliated professional, and a dispute arises thereafter relative to such engagement, the client agrees to seek recourse exclusively from and against the engaged professional. Please Also Note-Conflict of Interest: The recommendation by FIA's representative that a client purchase an insurance commission product through FIA's representative in his/her separate and individual capacity as an insurance agent, presents a conflict of interest, as the receipt of commissions may provide an incentive to recommend investment or insurance products based on commissions to be received, rather than on a particular client's need. No client is under any obligation to purchase any securities or insurance commission products through such a representative. Clients are reminded that they may purchase securities and insurance products recommended by FIA through other, non-affiliated insurance agencies. FIA's Chief Compliance Officer, Patricia J. Filbrandt, remains available to address any questions that a client or prospective client may have regarding the above conflict of interest.

Retirement Rollovers-Potential for Conflict of Interest: A client or prospective client leaving an employer typically has four options regarding an existing retirement plan (and may engage in a combination of these options): (i) leave the money in the former employer's plan, if permitted, (ii) roll over the assets to the new employer's plan, if one is available and rollovers are permitted, (iii) roll over to an Individual Retirement Account ("IRA"), or (iv) cash out the account value (which could, depending upon the client's age, result in adverse tax consequences). If FIA recommends that a client roll over their retirement plan assets into an account to be managed by FIA, such a recommendation creates a conflict of interest if FIA will earn an advisory fee on the rolled over assets. No client is under any obligation to roll over retirement plan assets to an account managed by FIA. FIA's Chief Compliance Officer, Patricia J. Filbrandt, remains available to address any questions that a client or prospective client may have regarding the potential for conflict of interest presented by such rollover recommendation.

Use of Mutual Funds. While FIA may recommend allocating investment assets to mutual funds that are not available directly to the public, FIA may also recommend that clients allocate investment assets to publically-available mutual funds that the client could obtain without engaging FIA as an investment adviser. However, if a client or prospective client determines to allocate investment assets to publically-available mutual funds without engaging FIA as an investment adviser, the client or prospective client would not receive the benefit of FIA's initial and ongoing investment advisory services.

Non-Discretionary Service Limitations. Clients that determine to engage FIA on a non-discretionary investment advisory basis must be willing to accept that FIA cannot effect any account transactions without obtaining prior consent to such transaction(s) from the client. Thus, in the event that FIA would like to make a transaction for a client's account (including in the event of an individual holding or general market correction), and the client is unavailable, FIA will be unable to effect the account transaction(s) (as it would for its discretionary clients) without first obtaining the client's consent.

Client Obligations. In performing its services, FIA shall not be required to verify any information received from the client or from the client's other designated professionals, and is expressly authorized to rely thereon. Moreover, each client is advised that it remains their responsibility to promptly notify FIA if there is ever any change in their financial situation or investment objectives for the purpose of reviewing/evaluating/revising FIA's previous recommendations and/or services.

Disclosure Statement. A copy of FIA's written disclosure statement as set forth on Part 2 of Form ADV shall be provided to each client prior to, or contemporaneously with, the execution of a Services Agreement.

Assets Under Management

As of December 31, 2016, FIA has assets of $670,746,683 under discretionary management and $220,270,099 under non-discretionary management.

Item 5 - Fees and Compensation

Fees paid to FIA are for FIA advisory services only. The fees do not include, for example, the fees charged by third parties such as accountants and attorneys assisting with providing the client with accounting and legal advice. Commissions on transactions and other account fees will also be charged by brokerage firms in accordance with the account's brokerage firm's normal commission schedule. See Item 12, Brokerage Practices. Customary commissions on insurance are also not included.

Prospective clients should be aware that in addition to FIA's advisory fees, each mutual fund or ETF in which a client's assets are invested also pays advisory fees and other internal expenses which already have been deducted from the fund's reported performance. Depending on the fund, a client may be able to invest directly in the shares issued by the fund with or without incurring any sales or third-party management fees. Account maintenance fees are also deducted by the custodian.

In addition, there are tax effects pertaining to fund share redemptions, and other sales, made by FIA on behalf of clients. Redemptions and sales are taxable events which may accelerate the recognition of capital gains, and losses, and frequent redemptions and sales may result in short-term, rather than long-term, capital gains and losses.

Comprehensive Financial and Portfolio Analysis Services Fee

The fee for these services is calculated in advance and is based upon the Client's investable net worth, the complexity of the Client's financial circumstances and scope of services requested. Fees will generally be negotiated between the client and FIA, but generally range from $3,000 to quoted. The specific fee and the timing of the fee charged are set forth on a schedule attached to the services agreement. Clients pay ½ of fee at contract signing and ½ when analysis is completed. Services are subject to a minimum fee of $3,000. In the event of contract termination, unearned prepaid fees are returned to the client, except for $750 retained for information collection if the contract is terminated before services are provided.

Analysis or Project Advisory Services Fee

The fee for this service is quoted in advance and based on the scope and nature of advisory services requested and number and qualifications of professional staff needed to complete the project. Per person hourly rates range from $300-$500. One-half of the quoted fee is due at the time the service agreement is signed, with the balance due after services are completed. Services are subject to a minimum fee of $1,500. In the event of contract termination, unearned prepaid fees are returned to the client, except for $750 retained for information collection if the contract is terminated before services begin. If FIA is unable to complete the work within 6 months of contract signing due to inability to collect Client data or other similar circumstance, this Agreement will be terminated.

Comprehensive Ongoing Financial and Portfolio Planning Services Fee

The terms and conditions of FIA's ongoing financial planning services shall generally be set forth in a Services Agreement between FIA and the client. The fee for such service shall be based upon various objective and subjective factors, including but not limited to: the complexity of the engagement and the level and scope of the overall financial planning services to be rendered.

Asset Management Services Fee

Fees for Asset Management Services are based upon the value of assets under management and are listed below. A minimum investment of $250,000 is required to establish an investment advisory account, unless waived by FIA.

Account Asset Value	Quarterly Fee	Annual Fee
On the first $1 million	.25%	1.00%
Next $2 million	.1875%	.75%
Next $2 million	.1625%	.65%
Over $5 million	.1375%	.55%

Subject to a minimum quarterly fee of $1,000.

Annual asset-based fees are calculated based upon the total market value of assets in a client's portfolio on the last business day of the quarter during which services are provided and are payable in advance, before services are provided. Clients pay an initial fee which is pro-rated for the time remaining in the first billing period, plus the next quarter. Thereafter, fees are calculated for successive three month periods. For purposes of valuing assets, the assets of related accounts may, at the discretion of FIA, be combined for fee calculation purposes. In the event the service agreement is terminated, which can occur upon 30 days' notice by FIA or the Client, prepaid fees are prorated for the last billing period to date of termination and refunded. FIA can change its fee schedule by providing the Client 30 days advance written notice.

Other Information About Fees:

A one-time set-up fee of $750 is due at contract signing.

The fee for providing quarterly reports only, or other limited services, on assets is quoted based on services requested.

If FIA performs background information gathering work, it charges $100 per hour to do so, but such fees are outlined to a client prior to incurring such additional charges.

Fees for all of FIA services may be negotiated in isolated instances, thus may vary from client-to-client for similar services. Such negotiated fees may involve assets which are restricted from sale by a client, or subject to third party consulting services. For all services, FIA may, at its discretion, charge a client interest at the annual rate of 1% on all unpaid fees outstanding beyond 10 days from invoice date.

The fees paid to FIA are for FIA's advisory services only. Commissions and other account fees may be charged in accordance with the account's brokerage firm's normal commission schedule.

Fees payable to FIA for Asset Management Services are, with the client's prior permission, automatically deducted from the client's account when due. The client will receive reports from the account's custodian, showing the fee calculation and fee amounts debited. FIA will liquidate money market shares to pay the fee and, if money market shares or cash value are not available, other investments will be liquidated. Authorization for the deduction of fees from the managed account is contained in the Services Agreement. The client may terminate the authorization for automatic deduction at any time by notifying FIA in writing.

Other Compensation

FIA Representatives are also licensed to offer insurance products. FIA Representatives will receive customary commissions for the sale of such products should a client decide to make purchases through the FIA Representative. Clients are free to purchase such products other than through FIA Representatives. This compensation creates a conflict of interest. All prospective and existing clients are hereby advised that this conflict exists. Advisory fees are not reduced by the amount of sales compensation a Representative receives, but Representatives may consider commissions as a factor when determining asset-based fees.

Item 6 - Performance Based Fees and Side-by-Side Management

FIA does not charge any performance-based fees. All fees are disclosed above.

Item 7 - Types of Clients/Minimum Account Size

FIA makes its advisory services available to a wide variety of clients including but not limited to, individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, corporations and other business entities.

FIA does not require a minimum account size or fee for its advisory services except as set forth in Item 5.

Item 8 - Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

FIA's security analysis methods include, but are not limited to, fundamental analysis (evaluating securities based upon its historical and projected financial performance). All securities analysis methods and strategies, even those used by FIA may involve a high degree of risk and losses can occur.

FIA employs investment strategies using a variety of securities including equity, corporate debt, municipal, U.S. government, annuities and investment company securities as well as certificates of deposit and real estate limited partnerships. Specific strategies implemented include long and short term purchases and limited short-term trading strategies. Except for Asset Management Services, FIA's representatives do not have authority to determine, without client consent, the securities or insurance to be bought or sold, amount of securities or insurance to be bought or sold, the broker or insurance agent to be used, or the commission rates to be paid.

FIA's main sources of information include, but are not limited to, financial newspapers and magazines, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, annual reports, prospectuses, public filings and company press releases.

FIA does not guarantee the results of the advice given. Thus, significant losses can occur by investing in any security, or by following any strategy, including those recommended or applied by FIA.

FIA may recommend traditional exchange-traded funds ("ETF"). ETF shares are bought and sold at market price unlike mutual funds. ETFs are subject to risks similar to those of stocks.

Item 9 - Disciplinary Information

FIA does not have any disciplinary information to report regarding itself or any of its counselors or other related persons.

Item 10 - Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

As discussed in Item 5 above, certain FIA Representatives, in their individual capacities, are also licensed insurance agents, and may recommend the purchase of certain insurance-related products on a commission basis. As referenced in Item 5 above, clients can engage licensed FIA Representatives to effect insurance transactions on a commission basis. The recommendation by licensed FIA Representatives that a client purchase an insurance commission products presents a material conflict of interest, as the receipt of commissions may provide an incentive to recommend investment products based on commissions received, rather than on a particular client's need. No client is under any obligation to purchase any commission products from licensed FIA Representatives. Clients are reminded that they may purchase insurance products recommended by FIA through other, non-affiliated insurance agents.

In addition, FIA owns a minority, non-controlling interest in a federally chartered trust company, National Advisors Trust Company ("NATC"). NATC is regulated by the Office of Thrift Supervision. The trust company intends to provide a low cost alternative to tradition trust service providers, and FIA intends to refer clients to NATC for trust services. The recommendation by FIA that a client engage the trust services of NATC presents a material conflict of interest, as the receipt of residual compensation by FIA, as an owner of NATC, may provide an incentive to recommend NATC's trust services, rather than on a particular client's need. No client is obligated to engage NATC's trust services and clients are reminded that they may engage the trust services of other trust companies. FIA's Chief Compliance Officer, Patricia J. Filbrandt, remains available to address any questions that a client or prospective client may have regarding the above conflicts of interest.

Item 11 - Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

When FIA Representatives make recommendations for the purchase of insurance they also receive customary commissions as insurance salespersons. The receipt of commissions in return for insurance product purchases creates a conflict of interest for Representatives when they recommend the purchase of such products to clients.

Representatives of FIA may buy or sell securities for themselves that they also recommend to clients. Where a transaction for a Representative, or an account related to a Representative, is contemplated, a client's transaction is given priority. FIA has developed a Code of Ethics applicable to all persons who have access to confidential client records or to recommendations being made for client accounts. Designed to prevent conflicts of interest between the financial interests of clients and the interests of the firm's staff, the Code requires, among other procedures, such "access persons" to obtain preapproval of certain securities transactions, to report transactions quarterly and to report all securities positions in which they have a beneficial interest at least annually. These reporting requirements allow supervisors at the firm to determine whether to allow or prohibit certain employee securities purchases and sales based on transactions made, or anticipated to be made, in the same securities for clients' accounts. The Code also established certain bookkeeping requirements relating to federal reporting rules. The Code is required to be reviewed annually and updated as necessary. A complete copy of the firm's Code is available upon request.

Item 12 - Brokerage Practices

Although FIA will choose from a variety of investments when making recommendations and placing orders on behalf of clients, FIA will usually recommend clients receiving investment management service open an account with Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab"), a registered broker-dealer, Member FINRA/SIPC, to maintain custody of clients' assets and to process FIA's orders. Although a client is not obligated to utilize the services of Schwab, FIA believes that use of Schwab is a convenient means of obtaining efficient transaction executions, account reference and reporting services for investment positions. For FIA's client accounts maintained in its custody, Schwab generally does not charge separately for custody but is compensated by account holders through commissions or other transaction-related, or asset-based fees for securities trades that are executed through Schwab or that settle into Schwab accounts. FIA will recommend the use of Fidelity and Vanguard mutual funds for certain accounts, and also recommend TIAA custodial accounts when providing advice to clients regarding investments in their retirement annuities. FIA does not have authority to take possession of any client assets, except for withdrawal of fees permitted by each client in advance.

FIA is independently owned and operated and not affiliated with Schwab, Fidelity, Vanguard or TIAA (the "Custodians"). The Custodians provides FIA with access to their institutional trading and custody services, which may not be available to retail investors. These services generally are available to independent investment advisers, at no charge to them. Schwab requires that FIA maintain a total of at least $10 million of its clients' assets in accounts at Schwab, and are not otherwise contingent upon adviser committing to Schwab any specific amount of business (assets in custody or trading). The Custodians' services include brokerage, custody, research, and access to mutual funds and other investments that are otherwise generally available only to institutional investors or would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment.

The Custodians makes available to FIA, at no cost, other products and services that benefit FIA but may not benefit its clients' accounts. Some of these other products and services assist FIA in managing and administering clients' accounts. These include software and other technology that provide access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements), facilitate trade execution (and allocation of aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts), provide research, pricing information and other market data, facilitate payment of FIA's fees from its clients' accounts, and assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping and client reporting. Many of these services generally may be used to service all or a substantial number of FIA's accounts, including accounts not maintained at the specific Custodian. The Custodians may also make available to FIA other services intended to help FIA manage and further develop its business enterprise. These services may include consulting, publications and conferences on advisory services management, information technology, business succession, regulatory compliance, and marketing. In addition, the Custodians may make available, arrange and/or pay for these types of services rendered to FIA by independent third parties. The Custodians may discount or waive fees it would otherwise charge for some of these services or pay all or a part of the fees of a third-party providing these services to FIA. On 11/11/16, we entered into an agreement with Schwab to receive a recurring quarterly discount of $2,625 off an invoice for software. The maximum amount FIA could receive under this arrangement over four quarters is $10,500. While as a fiduciary, FIA endeavors to act in its clients' best interests, FIA's recommendation that clients maintain their assets in accounts at a Custodian may be based in part on the benefit to FIA of the availability of some of the foregoing products and services and not solely on the nature, cost or quality of custody and brokerage services provided by the Custodians, which may create a potential conflict of interest.

Clients should be aware that the receipt of economic benefits by FIA described above, in and of itself, creates a potential conflict of interest and may directly or indirectly influence FIA's recommendation of those service providers for custody and brokerage service.

Thus, the receipt of these services creates an incentive and conflict of interest for FIA when it recommends the Custodians services.

Other than the services described above, FIA and its Representatives do not direct transactions and the commissions they generate (soft dollars) to brokerage firms or other parties to receive research or other benefits.

FIA does not process transactions through the Custodians in return for the Custodians referring new clients to FIA.

FIA may combine similar client orders into one aggregate order for the purpose of obtaining an average price for all customers participating in the order.

Item 13 - Review of Accounts and Reports

When performing Comprehensive Advisory Services, the initial review of a client's circumstances is performed by FIA's staff with at least one meeting with the Client within six months of the initial consultation. Ongoing Advisory Service account reviews are provided by FIA's staff at intervals selected by the client, and a review of each Asset Management Account occurs at least quarterly. All reviews and meetings are usually performed by one staff member.

One written financial analysis or project report is prepared in connection with Comprehensive or Project Advisory Services. The scope of the report is decided between the client and FIA before services begin. The number and type of reports prepared in connection with the Ongoing Services are also decided upon by client and FIA prior to the services being provided. A written report identifying the investments in a client's account, each investment's current value and the performance of the account is provided to each Asset Management client at least calendar quarterly. Clients typically receive services from one Investment Adviser Representative of the firm, although other representatives may assist.

Item 14 - Client Referrals and Other Compensation

FIA does not currently have any client referral relationships. Thus, it does not pay any fee to a third party for making client referrals to it. Also, as indicated above, the firm does not direct brokerage transactions to any third party in return for client referrals.

Item 15 - Custody

FIA does not take custody of client funds or securities. These safekeeping services are typically provided to managed accounts only by the brokerage firm processing the securities transactions ordered by FIA.

To the extent a client receives any account or other investment ownership statement from FIA, FIA recommends the client carefully compare the information in the report to that in the custodian's statements.

Item 16 - Investment Discretion

When providing Investment Management Services, FIA Representatives may exercise discretion when granted authority by clients and most clients grant discretionary authority to FIA. When doing so, it allows FIA to select the securities to buy and sell, the amount to buy and sell, when to buy and sell, and the commission rate paid, without obtaining specific consent from the client for each trade. Clients should be aware that FIA Representatives may make different recommendations and effect different trades with respect to the same securities and insurance to different advisory clients. Commissions and execution of securities transactions implemented through the custodian/broker dealer recommended by FIA may not be better than the commissions or execution available if the client used another brokerage firm. However, FIA believes that the overall level of services and support provided to the client by custodians and broker-dealers whom FIA recommends outweighs the potentially lower costs that may be available from other brokerage service providers.

When exercising discretion, FIA may combine orders for more than one client's account to form a "block" order for the purpose of seeking a better price and or execution. When a block order is executed, the broker/dealer executing the order typically allocates an average execution price to all shares in the block order, which FIA then allocates to each customer's account position on a pro rata basis. Should a block order only be partially filled, available shares are distributed in a manner fair to all accounts.

If a client directs FIA to effect transactions through a particular broker/dealer, including Schwab, FIA will do so. However, such an instruction may have implications to the client which may include incurring transaction costs and commissions that may be higher or lower than if the instruction had not been given. Also, restricting FIA to particular broker/dealers may limit FIA's ability to include a client account order within block orders to obtain the best price or execution. In addition, if FIA effecting transactions in a security for clients by means of a block order, as well as an order in the same security for a client who has directed FIA use a particular broker/dealer, FIA will effect the block order immediately prior to effecting the directed brokerage trade. Thus, clients directing FIA to use a particular broker/dealer may not receive the same average price for securities bought or sold that would be received if the order was part of a block order.

In those instances where an order error occurs by FIA, it is FIA's policy to reverse the order to make the client's account whole.

Item 17 - Voting Client Securities

FIA and its Representatives do not vote proxies on behalf of clients who will receive such notices from their account's custodian.

FIA also does not take any action on legal notices it or a client may receive from issuers of securities held in a client's managed account. However, it is available to answer questions regarding such notices.

Item 18 - Financial Information

FIA does not require or solicit fees of more than $1,200 six months or more in advance, thus no financial statement for FIA is attached. FIA does not have any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair its ability to meet its contracted commitment to any client.

Item 2 - Educational Background and Business Experience

Ms. Filbrandt was born in 1952. She attended the University of Wisconsin from 1970 to 1973. She has been a Vice President and shareholder of Filbrandt & Company, an insurance brokerage firm, since 1981, and is licensed to offer and sell life and health insurance. She completed the Certified Financial Planner™ program and received the CFP® designation during May 2003. She also attained her CLU® and ChFC®. Ms. Filbrandt became qualified as an Investment Adviser Representative for Filbrandt Investment Advisers during May 1995, and serves as the firm's President.

The CFP® certification is granted by Certified Financial Planners Board of Standards, Inc. The certification is voluntary; no federal or state law or regulation requires financial planners to hold CFP® certification. It is recognized in the United States and a number of other countries for its (1) high standard of professional education; (2) stringent code of conduct and standards of practice; and (3) ethical requirements that govern professional engagements with clients. Currently, more than 76,000 individuals have obtained CFP® certification in the United States.

To attain the right to use the CFP® marks, an individual must satisfactorily fulfill the following requirements:

- Education - Complete an advanced college-level course of study addressing the financial planning subject areas that CFP Board's studies have determined as necessary for the competent and professional delivery of financial planning services, and attain a Bachelor's Degree from a regionally accredited United States college or university (or its equivalent from a foreign university). CFP Board's financial planning subject areas include insurance planning and risk management, employee benefits planning, investment planning, income tax planning, retirement planning, and estate planning;
- Examination - Pass the comprehensive CFP® Certification Examination. The examination, administered in 10 hours over a two-day period, includes case studies and client scenarios designed to test one's ability to correctly diagnose financial planning issues and apply one's knowledge of financial planning to real world circumstances;
- Experience - Complete at least three years of full-time financial planning-related experience (or equivalent, measured as 2,000 hours per year); and
- Ethics - Agree to be bound by CFP Board's Standards of Professional Conduct, a set of documents outlining the ethical and practice standards for CFP® professionals.

Individual who become certified must complete the following ongoing education and ethics requirements in order to maintain the right to continue to use the CFP® marks:

- Continuing Education - Complete 30 hours of continuing education hours every two years, including two hours on the Code of Ethics and other parts of the Standards of Professional Conduct, to maintain competence and keep up with developments in the financial planning field; and
- Ethics - Renew an agreement to be bound by the Standards of Professional Conduct. The Standards prominently require that CFP® professionals provide financial planning services at a fiduciary standard of care. This means CFP® professionals must provide financial planning services in the best interest of their clients.

CFP® professionals who fail to comply with the above standards and requirements may be subject to CFP Board's enforcement process, which could result in suspension or permanent revocation of their CFP® certification.

The CLU® or Chartered Life Underwriter® designation is granted by The American College to those individuals whom have completed a program and passed a 100 questions examination covering the application of life and health insurance in filling needs for survivor income, estate planning, business continuation and employee benefits. The individual must also meet experience and ethical standards and achieve continuing education requirements.

This Brochure Supplement provides information about Steven J. Hoffman that supplements the Filbrandt Investment Advisers, Incorporated (“FIA”) brochure. You should have received a copy of that brochure. Please contact Patricia J. Filbrandt if you did not receive FIA's brochure or if you have any questions about the contents of this supplement.

Additional information about Steven J. Hoffman (CRD No. 4052018) is available on the SEC's website at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov.

Item 2 - Educational Background and Business Experience

Mr. Hoffman was born in 1968. He graduated from the University of South Dakota with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Business Administration in 1991. He has held senior leadership positions at several financial organizations for the past 15 years. Mr. Hoffman completed the Certified Financial Analyst program and received the CFA[®] designation. He joined FIA in 2016 and is a Senior Portfolio Manager.

The Chartered Financial Analyst[®] (CFA) charter is globally respected, graduate-level investment credential established in 1962 and awarded by CFA Institute - the largest global association of investment professionals.

To earn the CFA[®] charter, candidates must: 1) pass three sequential, six-hour examinations; 2) have at least four years of qualified professional investment experience; 3) join CFA Institute as member; and 4) commit to abide by, and annually reaffirm, their adherence to the CFA Institute Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct.

High Ethical Standards

The CFA Institute Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct, enforced through an active professional conduct program, require CFA[®] charter holders to:

- Place their clients' interests ahead of their own
- Maintain independence and objectivity
- Act with integrity
- Maintain and improve their professional competence
- Disclose conflicts of interest and legal matters

Global Recognition

Passing the three CFA exams is a difficult feat that requires extensive study (successful candidates report spending an average of 300 hours of study per level). Earning the CFA[®] charter demonstrates mastery of many of the advanced skills needed for investment analysis and decision making in today's quickly evolving global financial industry. As a result, employers and clients are increasingly seeking CFA[®] charter holders - often making the charter a prerequisite for employment.

Additionally, regulatory bodies in 19 countries recognize the CFA[®] charter as proxy for meeting certain licensing requirements, and more than 125 colleges and universities around the world have incorporated a majority of the CFA[®] Program curriculum into their own finance courses.

Comprehensive and Current Knowledge

The CFA[®] Program curriculum provides a comprehensive framework of knowledge for investment decision making and is firmly grounded in the knowledge and skills used every day in the investment profession. The three levels of the CFA[®] Program test a proficiency with a wide range of fundamental and advanced investment topics, including ethical and professional standards, fixed-income and equity analysis, alternative and derivative investment, economics, financial reporting standards, portfolio management, and wealth planning.

The CFA[®] Program curriculum is updated every year by experts from around the world to ensure that candidates learn the most relevant and practical new tools, ideas, and investment and wealth management skills to reflect the dynamic and complex nature of the profession.

Item 3 - Disciplinary Information

Mr. Hoffman does not have any disciplinary information to disclose. He has not: (a) been party to a criminal or civil action in a domestic, foreign or military court, (b) been party to an administrative proceeding before the SEC, any other federal regulatory agency, any state regulatory agency or any foreign financial regulatory authority; or (c) been party to a self-regulatory proceeding.

Item 4 - Other Business Activities

Mr. Hoffman is not actively engaged in any other investment related business activities.

Item 5 - Additional Compensation

Mr. Hoffman does not receive any additional economic benefit from third parties for providing advisory services.

Item 6 - Supervision

Mr. Hoffman is supervised by Patricia Filbrandt, FIA's Chief Compliance Officer. Her contact information can be found on the cover page of this Schedule 2B supplemental brochure.

Mrs. Filbrandt and other individuals as she may designate, regularly review the accounts receiving investment advisory services to monitor for suitability of recommendations and compliance with regulatory and internal procedures.

Item 2 - Educational Background and Business Experience

Mr. Haygood was born in 1982. He attended the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater, where he received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Journalism in 2006. He obtained the CFP® designation in November 2015. Mr. Haygood worked in Real Estate Management for a number of years. He has been an employee at FIA since August 2010.

The AWMA® designation is granted by the College for Financial Planning. Individuals who hold the AWMA® designation have completed a course of study encompassing wealth strategies, equity-based compensation plans, tax reduction alternatives, and asset protection alternatives. Additionally, individuals must pass an end-of-course examination that tests their ability to synthesize complex concepts and apply theoretical concepts to real-life situations.

All AWMA® designees have agreed to adhere to Standards of Professional Conduct and are subject to a disciplinary process. Designees renew their designation every two-years by completing 16 hours of continuing education, reaffirming adherence to the Standards of Professional Conduct and complying with self-disclosure requirements.

The CFP® certification is granted by Certified Financial Planners Board of Standards, Inc. The certification is voluntary; no federal or state law or regulation requires financial planners to hold CFP® certification. It is recognized in the United States and a number of other countries for its (1) high standard of professional education; (2) stringent code of conduct and standards of practice; and (3) ethical requirements that govern professional engagements with clients. Currently, more than 76,000 individuals have obtained CFP® certification in the United States.

To attain the right to use the CFP® marks, an individual must satisfactorily fulfill the following requirements:

- Education - Complete an advanced college-level course of study addressing the financial planning subject areas that CFP Board's studies have determined as necessary for the competent and professional delivery of financial planning services, and attain a Bachelor's Degree from a regionally accredited United States college or university (or its equivalent from a foreign university). CFP Board's financial planning subject areas include insurance planning and risk management, employee benefits planning, investment planning, income tax planning, retirement planning, and estate planning;
- Examination - Pass the comprehensive CFP® Certification Examination. The examination, administered in 10 hours over a two-day period, includes case studies and client scenarios designed to test one's ability to correctly diagnose financial planning issues and apply one's knowledge of financial planning to real world circumstances;
- Experience - Complete at least three years of full-time financial planning-related experience (or equivalent, measured as 2,000 hours per year); and
- Ethics - Agree to be bound by CFP Board's Standards of Professional Conduct, a set of documents outlining the ethical and practice standards for CFP® professionals.

Individual who become certified must complete the following ongoing education and ethics requirements in order to maintain the right to continue to use the CFP® marks:

- Continuing Education - Complete 30 hours of continuing education hours every two years, including two hours on the Code of Ethics and other parts of the Standards of Professional Conduct, to maintain competence and keep up with developments in the financial planning field; and
- Ethics - Renew an agreement to be bound by the Standards of Professional Conduct. The Standards prominently require that CFP® professionals provide financial planning services at a fiduciary standard of care. This means CFP® professionals must provide financial planning services in the best interest of their clients.

CFP® professionals who fail to comply with the above standards and requirements may be subject to CFP Board's enforcement process, which could result in suspension or permanent revocation of their CFP® certification.
